International Conference on Solar Radiation and Aerosol (ICSRA 2011)

April 14-15, 2011
Kathmandu, Nepal

Organized by

Solar Radiation and Aerosol
in Himalaya Region (SAHR)

Objectives

The International Conference on Solar Radiation and Aerosol (ICSRA 2011) is going to be held in Kathmandu, Nepal. It is intended to be a forum for theoretical and technical exchange amongst researchers from academia and research laboratories in the field of solar radiation and aerosol.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together researchers, practitioners and interested persons in the field of solar radiation, aerosol, air quality and air pollution. This conference is aimed to understand the current status of solar radiation, solar UV, urban air quality and its management in both developed and developing countries, share the experience in these fields between the participants. Furthermore, the conference also aims to initiate further exchange programs in the future.

The conference organizing committee encourages authors to submit abstracts, describing original work, reporting research results and/or indicating future directions. Accepted papers will be presented at the conference by one of the authors. Abstracts will be accepted based on quality and relevance. Please contact the secretariat for further information.

SAHR

Solar Radiation and Aerosol in Himalaya Region (SAHR) is the short name for the project — Spatial and Seasonal Variation in Solar Radiation and Aerosol Concentrations and Compositions in Urban and Rural Sites in Himalaya Region. It was established in 2007 to monitor, study and analyze total solar radiation, solar UV, air quality and impacts of aerosols in the Himalaya Region. It has a financial support from The Norwegian Program for Development, Research and Education (NUFU) for the period of 2007-2011. Please visit <http://ioe.edu.np/sahr> for more information on SAHR.
